To Whom It May Concern,

This letter is to inform the NYU IRB that as the legal representative of Villa Amantea Association in Milano, Italy, we are glad to partner with this year's NYU Capstone student research team. Myself, as well as my staff, are familiar with the research component of the student's Capstone project.

Villa Amantea Association is in agreement that students will begin their research on site, in Milan, Italy, on January 11th and depart on January 20th and that on Sunday 14, 2018 they will interview and observe selected migrant patients and staff. We understand that the students will be asking questions and distributing surveys that address the perceptions of mental health and vaccinations. As Villa Amantea Association does not have an IRB, and as I serve as the Principal Investigator at the site in Milan, I Patrizia Ricciardi, legal representative of Villa Amantea, approve this research project.

Sincerely,

Patrizia Ricciardi
